...Hundred Clerks at Fourth and Townsend Streets Laid Off.

...Francisco, June 30.—The South-...cific Company secured its first ...er the strikers shortly after 1 ...this afternoon, when its south-...bound train, the New Orleans ex-...was successfully taken out of the ...yards. The train, which in-...ded mail cars, two pullmans and ...ordinary coaches, was made up ...ecial Superintendent Fillmore, ... Superintendent Wilder and ...Division officials. The United ...States marshal and ten deputies were on board as guards. Brotherhood engineers and non-union steamboat firemen moved the train, which passed down the yard and southward unmolested by the strikers. This temporary victory seemed to encourage the company officials, who soon began to talk again about regular trains. During the day the company maintained only an irregular suburban service.

On the San Jose division a determined effort was made to resume traffic. In the morning 100 policemen were sent by Chief Crowley to the yards at Fourth and Townsend street, and 100 more men were held at police headquarters for an emergency call. But at the railroad yards they found only a big crowd, composed largely of curious idlers. The Coast division dairy train, due here at 4 o'clock, did not get in until 7 this morning. The trainmen deserted it in the yard. The San Luis Obispo train also arrived and was abandoned in the yard, another train left for San Luis Obispo ...spring. Later in the day, however, a notice was posted at the Southern Pacific depot at San Jose announcing that all trains will be cancelled until further orders, indicating that the company had temporarily given up the struggle on the coast division and narrow gauge. So far there has been no violence. In the vicinity of Fourth and Townsend streets there are too many policemen, and those who might create trouble are over awed. The Oakland yards are patrolled by deputy sheriffs. The only trouble of any kind reported today was the drubbing of a man named Mahan, a non-union fireman who came in this morning on the coast division train, by sympathizers with the strikers. SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—It is reported here that the Oregon express, which left Oakland at 7:45, is stalled at Lathrop. The fireman walked out, and no one could be found to take his place.

JUDGE ROSS' OPINION.

He Contends Santa Fe Employes Are Violating the Law.

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—This afternoon a train, made up of an engine, mail car and day coach pulled out of the Santa Fe depot without obstruction, with a non-union engineer, fireman and conductor. The passenger coach contained no passengers other than twelve deputy marshals. It is stated their destination is Barstow, and they will bring down from Barstow all cars they can haul and also all passengers stalled there.

Judge Ross has prepared an opinion in which he contends that employes on the Santa Fe are violating the law in refusing to handle trains on which the United States mails are carried, so long as they consider themselves employes of the road. He therefore intends issuing an order compelling the men to perform all their regular and accustomed duties so long as they remain in the employ of the Santa Fe Company.

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—The Southern Pacific overland from New Orleans arrived tonight at 7 o'clock, with the usual number of coaches and Pullman cars. All hands struck as soon as the train pulled into the depot. At a meeting of Southern Pacific engineers and train hands held tonight, it was decided to indorse the action of the American Railway Union and abide by instructions of the union as issued from Chicago.

AT SACRAMENTO.

The Sheriff Will Not Make Unlawful Arrests.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 30.—The only new feature in the railroad strike here tonight is the reply just sent by Sheriff O'Niel to General Manager Towne in response to the latter's demand that he clear the depot of strikers who congregate there daily to the number of nearly 3000. O'Neil says he has found no disposition on the part of strikers to commit any unlawful acts, but that they are quiet and peaceful. He says to Towne, however, that if he will put men on the train to run it he will afford protection to railroad crews in running trains, but that he will not jeopardize his bondsmen by making arrests that would be unwarrantable or unlawful.

MEN WHO WILL NOT STRIKE.

They Insist That the Provocation Is Too Trival.

OMAHA, Neb., June 30.—The American Railway Union men still insist they will not strike at present because they think the provocation too trival. President Debs threatens to cancel their charter and they told him to do so. If Debs attempts to enforce a strike on the Union Pacific lines in Nebraska or in the district under control of Judge Dundy he is liable to run again a snag which will land him and all the railway union men who strike in jail. He emphatically declares that even a refusal of the employes of this road to handle Pullmans would bring them in contempt of court and they would be dealt with accordingly.

AT DENVER.

Train Starts for California, but Is Abandoned.

DENVER, Col., June 30.—The strike is spreading rapidly, the Colorado Midland and Gulf road is completely tied up tonight, and the D., R. & R. G. is seriously crippled. The Santa Fe sent out its California train via the Colorado Midland, but it got no further than Colorado City, where all classes of employes except conductors and engineers struck.

LOCOMOTIVE FIREMEN.

Their Laws Prohibit Them from Joining the Strike.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 30.—F. P. Sargent, grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, who arrived here today, said: "The firemen will not join the strikers. The laws of our order prohibit us, as an organization, from taking any part in this struggle against the Pullman company by the American Railway union, and we shall not be drawn into it.

Fruit Market Glutted.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—Notwithstanding the railroad blockade, the local fruit market was so badly glutted this morning that there was a marked tumble in prices. All the river and bay steamboats came in with heavy loads. The fruit-growers and vegetable men who tried to reach tidewater hoped to take advantage of the supposed reduced supply in this city, and rushed their products to market. Much of the fruit that reached the city had been too long delayed under the hot sun, and was very soft.

Fire at Astoria.

ASTORIA, June 30.—The canneries of the Astoria Packing Company, one of the largest on the Columbia river, was totally destroyed by fire today. The loss is estimated at $70,000, including nearly 10,000 cases of salmon ready for shipment. The lighthouse tender Manzanita, lying at one of the adjacent wharves, was damaged in her upper rigging and the paint on her hull badly blistered.

THE BOYCOTT GROWING.

Debs Still Issuing Orders to Strike.

REAL CRISIS NOT YET REACHED.

Chicago Threatened With a Strike of All Trades Unions in the City.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Advices to the Associated press from various points indicate that the railroad strike is spreading. President Debs is issuing orders to strike in almost every section, and they seem to be very generally obeyed. It is claimed on behalf of the railroad companies that the movement will culminate today, and that the lessening of traffic on Sunday will enable them to organize their forces more essentially. On the other hand Sunday's rest will turn loose thousands of workingmen in other lines, and it is feared that the action of hotheaded men may result in greater disorder.

The situation at Chicago is worse today. The stock yards are practically at a standstill, stopping the movements of dressed meats outward and live stock inward. The Illinois Central suburban service, which carries more people to and from business in Chicago than any other line, is completely tied up, and in fact the blockade extends practically everywhere.

The General Managers' association today issued a statement saying the companies have no idea of entering into a compromise with the strikers on any basis whatever. The men who are now on strike are considered to have resigned their positions. Any men who desire employment under the railroad companies sentering in Chicago, and are competent, will be furnished positions and be afforded all the protection that lies in the power of the companies, police, sheriff and State militia. Men are now being hired in the East and brought to Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 30.—The Post summarizes the strike as follows: Violence has become a feature of the American Railroad Union strike on almost all roads centered in Chicago. President Debs, from headquarters, talks peace, while delaying trains and smashing windows and stoning trainmen and passengers. The result is that there is a more complete tie-up than at any time since the strike was begun. In many instances no attempt is made to take out trains that are made up, because of lack of protection for the passengers and crews, but there has been no weakening on the part of the General Managers' Association.

It realizes that the supreme test of strength has come, but it claims that the test is now between the government and the rioters. It is ready to run its trains if protection is given them, and that is a matter for regularly constituted officials to attend to. It is no longer a matter of handling trains, but of observing peace, and Sheriff Gilbert and United States Marshal Arnold are the ones who are working today. Both admit the situation is critical, and both claim to be doing all in their power to maintain order. Both have sworn in a large number of deputies, but are fearful they may have to call on other and higher authority for assistance before tomorrow morning. Sheriff Gilbert says he thinks he has enough men to preserve order as matters now stand, but admits that the situation is extremely critical, and that he may have to call for troops before the trouble spreads.

Marshal Arnold's instructions are that mail trains must not be interfered with, and he says it has got past the point whether the government is merely interested in the running of trains on roads in the hands of receivers. Uncle Sam has interests involved in the strike on every one of the roads, and he proposes to protect these interests at all hazards. He has been drawn into the trouble, and appearances indicate that he is going to take an active hand in the affair. The strike itself is spreading with startling rapidity, and is almost every hour accompanied by acts of violence. It threatens now to include the cable and elevated roads, although there is no known reason why men in these roads should go out unless Debs' intention is to declare war on the public.

The Rock Island strike, which was promised yesterday, began this morning. President Debs issued an order to tie-up the entire system. Every man over whom he has authority is ordered to quit work, no matter at what point on the road he was employed. This was preceded by riotous demonstrations at Blue Island avenue last night, when the switches were spiked and the men driven from their work. The Illinois Central abandoned its entire suburban service this morning, owing to acts of violence committed last night. It issued notice to the effect that it would make no attempt to resume until it was assured that its passengers and trainmen would be adequately protected from rioters.

The Fort Wayne road was tied up this morning, and the St. Paul was again tied up tonight. The strikers say that the latter road has not lived up to its agreement to sidetrack its Pullman cars, but is using them on another line.

The Santa Fe reports its condition as not changed since yesterday, and the Burlington is engaging men to take the places of the strikers, and says it is not badly crippled. The Baltimore and Ohio reports it is getting all its trains in and out, but its engineers are instructed to be cautious, and for that reason trains do not arrive on time. Outside of Chicago, the greatest trouble in Illinois is at Cairo. In addition to the Illinois Central trains held there the Big Four tried up there today, and none of its can get through. THE REAL CRISIS.

Debs Claims That It Has Not Yet Been Reached.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 30.—Grand Master Workman Sovereign tonight received a message from Debs, in which it was stated the real crisis had not been reached, and asked Sovereign if he would stand by the American Railway union. Sovereign replied that he would, and sent telegrams to freight handlers in Minneapolis, St. Paul, Spokane, San Francisco, Portland, Boston, Baltimore, New Orleans and other points, and all stevedores, to hold themselves in readiness to go out at a moment's notice. Sovereign also sent orders to 50,000 men in Chicago, packers and others, to go out.

HE NEVER FOUND IT OUT.

Pathetic Tale of a Lost Pocketbook and a Charming Gown.

"What a charming gown that is!" cried the young woman with the picture hat. "I only wish I had one like it, but I never could afford it."

"Neither could I, my dear, if I hadn't lost my pocketbook."

"Good gracious, prosperity has affected your mind! I don't see how."

"Well, you see, Albert gave me the money to buy a gown. I told him it was not half enough, but he protested it was every cent he could afford. I cried for two days about it, and as he didn't give in then I concluded he was really telling the truth, so I started out to do the best I could. I went to every dry goods store in town and never worked so hard in my life, but I couldn't find what I wanted at the price. Finally in despair I decided to take the first piece I had looked at, and oh, Laura, imagine my horror to find when the clerk had cut off that pattern that I had lost my pocketbook!"

"How perfectly awful!"

"Wasn't it? I thought I should die. I knew I would have to tell Albert all about it some time, so I rushed around to his office to tell him in the presence of strangers, when he could not say anything dreadful. I wept and accused myself of carelessness, when he said he would advertise, for I couldn't remember when I had it last nor how much money was in it. His partner was there, and he seemed to feel so sorry for me—he's an old bachelor—that Albert didn't scold much and actually gave me the money the second time."

"And you went and got the gown?"

"Well, no. I had changed my mind about that piece of goods, it had such a cheap look, so I just went home to think it over."

"But you never got that gown cheap?"

"No, I didn't. The fact is, I found my pocketbook on the hall table where I had left it when I took out my car fare to put in my glove. I am so careful of money that I don't like to display much in the cars."

"And what did Albert say when he found it out?"

"He would have said a great deal if he had found it out, but he never did. I knew he'd scold me for carelessness if I told him, so I just kept all the money and bought my gown. I'm so glad you like it, dear!"—Chicago Tribune.

An Insane Woman.

A woman giving the name of Mrs. Wilson was arrested by Officer George yesterday on a charge of insanity. Her mania is of a suicidal tendency. She has been despondent of late, and Friday night bought some laudanum with which to kill herself. Her lover, who is employed in the grill room at the Grand Central, took it away from her, and she then tried to kill herself with a knife, but was disarmed.

THE DUTY OF REPUBLICANS.

There have been times in the history of this government when the monotony of public events and the slight differences in the avowed principles of political parties created a feeling of indifference on the part of the voter as to the outcome of political contests. There is no excuse for such feeling at this time. No such conditions now exist. To the contrary, there has been only one other period in the history of the country which was marked by more important issues or conditions which more imperatively demanded the best intelligence of the people in determining results.

This paper believes that the highest and best interests of the people demand the success of the Republican party—the intelligence, the business capacity and the patriotism of that party aroused anew by the disasters and dangers of the situation and devoted to securing a return of that confidence and prosperity which our country has enjoyed in the past. We do not believe that the arduous task of restoring our national prosperity can be safely intrusted to any other party.

The Democratic party has thoroughly demonstrated its incapacity. A political party has never come into power under more flattering circumstances or with better opportunities to establish itself in public confidence. It has failed, utterly and miserably. Divided against itself on all the important issues, the effect of its vacillation and glaring inability to cope with the situation has been disastrous to business, and has driven from its ranks thousands of its best and most intelligent members. The people cannot and will not again intrust the affairs of this government to the Democratic party.

The Populist party is appealing to the people to intrust their hopes of good government into their hands. The Populists not only ask the people to believe that their administration ... affairs would bring prosperity, ... that, practically, the millenium would come with it. By a system of nationalized industry they propose to make it so much to everybody's interest to work for the good of the government that personal selfishness will be well-nigh obliterated. It conveniently ignores the fact that it is now, in reality, to everybody's interest to work zealously for good government. Everybody does not do it, however, and neither would they if industry were nationalized. The religion taught by the Savior of mankind does not destroy human selfishness, and we hope we may be excused for disbelieving that it can be done through the workings of any political machine set up by human hands.

...earnest ... not a safe party. Its leaders ... largely made up of the disappointed ... swags of the old parties. Within its ranks are tens of thousands of cranks, representing every hallucination in government ever dreamed of. Some of its theories are undeniably good, but its plain tendency and its logical outcome is complete socialism. The general character of its leadership and the revolutionary sentiments pervading its membership prohibit the confidence necessary to success.

There has never been a political party in power which has not made mistakes. The Republican party has made them; but it has made no mistakes which it has not the ability and, we confidently believe, the courage and the patriotism to remedy. It is the party which has demonstrated its ability to meet emergencies and overcome great obstacles. It is the only party in this country today which can safely be trusted to administer the government. The duty of Republicans is as plain today as it ever was since the party was organized. It is to work enthusiastically for their party and the return of American prosperity.

BUILD THE CANAL.

The esteemed Expositor thinks the times are unpropitious for beginning work on the navigable canal, for the reason that no sooner would the laborers begin the work "than there would be an organization of the employes to drag them into the trouble that was precipitated at Pullman." The contemporary's pessimistic view is not well founded. The farmers and the horses which would do the excavating are not members of any national boycott association, nor do they wear any corporation collars on their necks. They are plain American citizens, at liberty to obey the dictates of their own intelligence and their own consciences. The men who would dig the canal would not permit anybody to "drag them into trouble" which does not concern them.

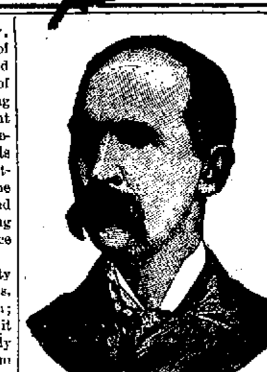

The present condition of things is another unanswerable argument in favor of the canal. If Fresno had half a dozen lines of railroad the probabilities are that they would all be tied up, and that the business men and farmers would be subject to the same inconvenience and loss that they are now. Aside from its chief purpose of regulating rates, the canal would serve to mitigate the evil of a suspension of business by the railroads, such as we are now experiencing. A canal owned by the state or by a navigation district would be perpetual protection against the combination of other carriers, and would give the people reasonable rates for the transportation of their produce for all time. No difference how many lines of railroads the San Joaquin valley may have in the halcyon days which are to come, it should also have the canal.

THE position of the railroad companies in refusing to carry the mails or transact any other business unless their employes will consent to the running of Pullman cars is as untenable as that taken by the boycotters in forcing their quarrel upon those who have no interest in it. Railroad companies as common carriers and as special carriers of United States mails are under obligations to the public which they have no right to abrogate, so long as it can possibly be avoided, in carrying on a controversy with their employes. In other words, they should to the extent of their ability fulfill their obligation to the public and use such other means as they can command in the contention for their rights as private owners. In refusing to carry the mails except upon their own terms they have clearly made the obligation which they owe to the public and to the government subservient to their private interests. As semi-public institutions the railroad companies have no right to ignore the interests of the general public.

PEOPLE who have had a hazy idea in regard to the meaning of the boycott as applied to business affairs have an illustration in the one now in progress in this country that is calculated to leave a definite and permanent idea of the thing in their minds for some time to come. The boycott carried to its logical and apparently possible conclusion means the confiscation of all the rights guaranteed by the government. Between the powers assumed by the corporations and the boycotters the people who are neither millionaires nor trades unionists have very few rights left. It is to be hoped that the present administration will develop the courage and capacity to deal with the question made imperative by present conditions in a way that will permanently take away from corporations and boycotters the power to drag the whole country into their quarrels.

MADERA is a nice town pretty nearly full of good people, but it has somebody within its precincts mean enough to loot an editor's house. W. J. Dexter of the Tribune of that place had taken advantage of the cheap rates to go with his family to San Francisco to see the big show, and while detained there by the dispute between Mr. Pullman and his hired hands, somebody without the fear of divine retribution in his heart entered the editorial domicile and carried off all the valuables they could lay their impious hands on. Madera owes it to her reputation as a town where justice is dispensed right and left to "do up" the miserable miscreant.

IT is to be hoped that Mr. Pullman and his hired hands will shortly agree to permit the rest of the people of the United States to resume business. The rest of us—the other 66,000,000, or thereabouts—are not so deeply interested in the matter of fixing the wages paid by Mr. Pullman that we desire to lay aside our own little affairs until the matter is settled.

It is an ill-wind that blows nobody good, and the hotel-keepers and restaurant men are not complaining. The streets of Fresno presented a quieter appearance yesterday than at anytime since the breaking out of hard times, over a year ago.

When The Republican at 8 p.m. bulletined the fact that a regular through train had left Oakland for Fresno via Lathrop the [illegible]s was quickly circulated on the [illegible]and in the hotels. It was hope[illegible]lieved by many that this was [illegible]f the strike, but the more [illegible]d conservative few predi[illegible] train would never get [illegible]even if it was not stoppe[illegible] The railro[illegible] agent at th[illegible]ts for points south of h[illegible]lemption if the train d[illegible]

The new[illegible]ad passed Madera c[illegible] crowd to hurry up [illegible]y after 8 o'clock. [illegible]umerous train-boun[illegible]d commenced p[illegible] and costly dri[illegible] 100 miles to th[illegible]

The tr[illegible] Oakland un[illegible] a lot of d[illegible] marshals an[illegible]eriff the work [illegible]ster and the [illegible] by several hi[illegible]

There [illegible] was expected [illegible] train any a[illegible] was expected t[illegible]hem that [illegible] would be loaded [illegible]n with Fr[illegible]d to get home at [illegible]. They fo[illegible]re ignorant of [illegible] fact that the train had been made up at a moment's notice in the Oakland yards and that very few people there knew anything about it.

They were surprised, therefore, when the train pulled into the depot, to find it almost deserted. No one appeared to be in the Pullman, though it was learned later that there were six passengers in the sleeper. Besides the Pullman there were three coaches, an express and baggage car and a mail car. There were very few people in the coaches. Some of the passengers stayed on the train so long as there appeared to be any chance of its continuing the run, but after weary waiting the greater number left the cars.

Engineer E. T. Bolger and Fireman E. O. Brown brought the train from Lathrop to Fresno. It is stated that Brown was assured by Superintendent Fillmore that the sleeper was his private car, and therefore Brown made the run. He would not otherwise have done so. Bolger and Brown, it is reported, were willing to refuse to take the train out from Lathrop, but they received very lukewarm encouragement from the railroad men there. Brown is not a member of any order, but sympathizes with his fellow workmen. The conductor in charge was Fred Coleman.

On reaching Fresno Engineer Hudson and Fireman Elder got on the engine, intending to take the train to Bakersfield. Fireman Elder was easily persuaded not to make the run, and the railroad officials hustled around briskly to get another man. Fireman Cornish was approached, but refused to make the run. It is said all manner of inducements were offered by the local officials, but to no avail.

Cornish is a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, but has no connection with the American Railway Union. He received orders from President Sargent of his order to take the train out, but refused to do so, preferring to stay with the boys and the American Railway Union.

As soon as the train arrived the engine was surrounded by a crowd of railroad men. Some of the leaders talked to Engineer Hudson, who had taken Bolger's place, and tried to have him leave the engine, but Hudson stuck to his post in spite of all jeers and coaxing. Facetious remarks were made by sympathizers of the railroad men as the railroad officials entered the cab to see that none of the strikers entered there.

One of the first things the crowd did was to look for the deputy marshals who were supposed to have come down with the train from the bay. They expected to see officers armed to the teeth and all that sort of thing. Only one deputy marshal was on the train, however, and he delighted in the name of [illegible]y. An immensely facetious Ananias in the guise of a train mail clerk said there were twenty deputies on the train.

For more than an hour after the train had arrived the depot was thronged by an inquisitive crowd. The railroad men were gathered in little knots and groups discussing the situation earnestly, but in low tones. They m[illegible] demonstration of any ki[illegible] an outsider [illegible] ch[illegible] silent as the proverbial oyster. This is a natural result, not only of their training as railroad employes, but as members of the secret societies and brotherhoods to which all of them belong.

The engine was finally taken away to the round house, and gradually the crowd thinned out and went away to wade through the big metropolitan dailies and find that nearly all the news had been already printed in The Republican.

The mail was quite heavy, and distribution was not completed, even at a late hour. Wells, Fargo's consignment was also a heavy one. Only twelve passengers came by the train, those who stayed behind preferring not to take the risk of being sidetracked at some small country town where accommodations might be scarce and prices put up to famine rates.

This was not the case with the twelve who arrived last night. They found all needed accommodations, and went to bed with the remark that a day in Fresno would be a pleasant break in the journey.

In a general way the tie-up has been a pretty good thing for the hotels of the city. One hotel which averages about a dozen names a day on its list has been running thirty or forty ever since the strike. All those who were stranded here have remained without any effort to get away, while a large number of county residents have come in to see the fun, and will stay till Monday.

Assistant Superintendent Whitmer was one of the passengers on the train. He joined it at Lathrop, having proceeded from San Francisco to Stockton by steamer and thence to Lathrop by buggy. The train was got out of Oakland so quietly that a number of passengers both at Stockton and Lathrop did not get news of the blockade runner, and are doubtless consumed with regrets.

Mr. Whitmer says that Mrs. Collins, wife of the Rev. J. H. Collins of this city, is a guest of Mrs. Whitmer in San Francisco, and is pining for hubby and baby who are down here. Mrs. Collins did not hear of the train starting till it was too late.

According to Mr. Whitmer very little excitement prevailed along the route between Lathrop and Fresno, and no demonstration of any kind was made by train hands or others. At the small country stations the people gathered in some force, but gazed curiously at the train without comment. The train made all the stops and was run as the regular passenger train No. 19 is ordinarily run. On the arrival here the yard men declined to change the engine and Mr. Whitmer had to put on the south bound engine. This engine was afterwards taken off and sent to the round house, as already stated, the fireman refusing to go out.

Superintendent Frazier had very little to add to the reports already published when interviewed last night. He made this brief statement for publication:

"The fireman who had promised to take the train out of Fresno declined to do so. Several other firemen were called in turn, and also refused. The train was therefore sidetracked, and will remain there for the present. We have no plans for the present. The train is laid up for the night, and all other trains annulled. I cannot say whether or not we shall run local trains tomorrow (Sunday) or when the other train will get away."

The Best Medicine.

J. O. Wilson, Contractor and Builder, Sulphur Springs, Texas, thus speaks of Ayer's Pills:

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine I ever tried; and, in my judgment, no better general remedy could be devised. I have used them in my family and recommended them to my friends and employes for more than twenty years. To my certain knowledge, many cases of the following complaints have been completely and by the use of Ayer's Pills alone: Third day chills, dumb ague, bilious fever, sick headache, rheumatism, flux, dyspepsia, constipation, and hard colds. I know that a moderate use of Ayer's Pills, continued for a few days or weeks, as the nature of the complaint required, would be found an absolute cure for the disorders I have named above."

"I have been selling medicine for eight years, and I can safely say that Ayer's Pills give better satisfaction than any other Pill I ever sold."—J. J. Perry, Spotsylvania C. H., Va.

Quince Culture.

Quinces, like forest trees, need but little training. During the first two years remove branches that are likely to interfere or cross, for all branches then will be main branches in time and will seriously interfere if allowed to cross or touch each other. After that the trees will nearly take care of themselves, as far as training is concerned. Let them head now and remain so, for quinces are of a dwarf habit. If the head is formed within a foot of the ground, it will not be too low. The best tool for cultivating is a disk or cutaway harrow. These tools reach beyond the team and under the branches of the trees, thus stirring the soil and keeping down the weeds under the trees. A plow is not very satisfactory. It cannot be used under the trees without danger of barking them. It does not leave the ground level and must be followed by some other tools to smooth down the ridges. The other tools mentioned do not throw dirt enough to form a ridge at the trees or in the space between, either of which would not be desirable.—Philadelphia Ledger.

WALSER ON THE STAND

Some Damaging Testimony Against Sanders.

BUT IT MAY BE RULED OUT

The Professor's Mysterious Visit to the Mojave Desert in Search of Knausch.

When the hearing of the Sanders forgery case was resumed in Judge Webb's court yesterday morning, the seats in the body of the courtroom were well filled and considerably more interest was manifested.

George Wiseman was the first witness and testified that he had an interview with Professor Sanders at the Wootton ranch on February 25, 1894. Sanders said he felt sick. He also said that Knausch and Graves had taken $20,000 over the hill and had offered to buy the ranch. Sanders paid witness $20 on account of a debt. He had previously given witness $5 to put in a new floor.

After an ineffectual attempt on Mr. Short's part to establish an objection, the witness was permitted to testify as to Sanders' version of the trading of Wootton's ranch. Sanders said that Knausch and Graves went into the room where Wootton was. Knausch laid down $20,000 in gold and said to Wootton: "I'm a man of few words. Money talks. You want $50,000 for your ranch. We will split the difference. Here is $2 ,000 and I will give you a check for $25,000." Wootton at first refused, but afterwards the trade was made.

Witness next saw Sanders on March 10th, two miles east of Reedley, and had some conversation with him in regard to the disappearance of Wootton. Sanders said: "Have you heard from 'Uncle Billy' today?" Witness answered "no," and Sanders said he had received a letter from Wootton, who was sick with dysentery. Two days before that witness had received a letter enclosing what purported to be a clipping from a letter by Wootton, telling Sanders to give witness credit.

The letter from Sanders with the clipping was produced and identified. Mr. Short objected to the introduction of the documents, but the objection was overruled. He then made an objection to the reception of a fragment of a letter without the remainder, but the court made the same ruling.

Witness resumed that he told Sanders that be could not understand the clipping. Wootton had instructed Sanders in this clipping to give witness credit for $75, and no such amount was owing. Witness said to Sanders that Wootton was getting very liberal. Sanders said that he had written to Wootton at Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Barstow, and he expected a letter from each of them in a few days. Witness subsequently received a letter, which he identified.

The letter to Wiseman was in the same violet ink as other letters alleged to be from Wootton, and was dated San Bernardino, March 11, 1894. Mr. Short objected to its introduction, but the objection was overruled.

The witness said he had received a number of letters from Wootton in past years. He noticed when he next met Sanders after the occasion referred to, that his whiskers were cut off short close to his chin, and was led to remark to a bystander, "That don't look like Sanders." He had seen Wootton in possession of a black valise like that produced, but it was a little longer and not quite so tall. Wootton was very active for an old man. Sanders said nothing about where he and Wootton went after the trade.

Cross-examined: Witness lives about thirty-two miles from the Wootton ranch, and has lived there eight or ten years. Sanders described Knausch as a large, tall man, with a heavy brown mustache, "the largest mustache of any man in California." Sanders said Knausch had been making money lately running tunnels in the southern country for miners. Sanders spoke of getting Knausch to make a tunnel for the purpose of irrigating lemon orchards. Wootton bought two hogs of witness which have not been paid for. He had been interviewed by Reporter Griffes and Detective Lawson.

H. E. Barnum of Reedley was called to the stand. His evidence was of a stronger character than any yet given. He said that he stopped Sanders and told him of the reports that Wootton was missing. Sanders burst into tears and exclaimed that people were accusing him of having murdered Wootton. He said further that he had taken Wootton to the train, and that several persons had since received letters from Wootton.

On cross-examination Barnum said that Sanders was very much excited, and talked about people having dragged wells and water-holes in search of Wootton's body. Sanders was still more agitated when witness saw him after his arrest, and said Wootton would have to be found before he could be cleared, and that if Wootton were not found he himself might hang for it.

F. M. Noll was called by the prosecution to testify that on February 1st and for several days thereafter no person answering the description of Wootton had been seen at Reedley depot or at the hotel.

Mark Walser testified to visiting Sanders at the Wootton ranch and asking his assistance to clear up the mystery. Sanders assented, and said that he knew more than anybody in the county about the matter, as he was the last person with Wootton up to the time the latter disappeared.

Mr. Short took a general exception to the whole of Walser's testimony, as not bearing on the forgery indictment, to which alone the defendant is now called on to answer.

The witness was permitted to go on. He said that the Professor denied having been out of the county. But when witness asked him in the presence of Detective Lawson if he had not recently been in Mojave, as the fact could be proved, Sanders hung his head and sat silent for half a minute. Then he said: "Yes, I was at Mojave. I came back next day. I took the train at Traver. I only stayed a little while. I went to Mojave in response to a letter written me by Knausch to go out into the desert and examine a gold mine he had located in 1860. The mine was thirty miles from Mojave. I expected to meet Knausch and Wootton. Instead of that I met Graves, and said to him, 'Where is Knausch? Where is Wootton?' Graves said: 'They are in San Bernardino.'"

Then the Professor continued all at once: "I got frightened, like a man at the sight of a rattlesnake. The thought struck me that this man Graves wanted to get me out into the woods to murder me. I ran to a freight train and asked the conductor to haul me to Bakersfield. He said he would. There I took the train and came home."

Walser methodically pursued his statement, not seeming in the least conscious of the dramatic interest of the situation. To him it was a legal problem, nothing more. He went on:

"At this point Detective Lawson, who was with me, turned to the Professor very suddenly and said, 'Where is Graves now?' Sanders said, 'I do[illegible] know.' Then the Professor began [illegible] ing of the transact[illegible] which [illegible] the sale of the Woot[illegible] [illegible] had tr[illegible] for th[illegible]

Knausch, the Professor said it was at Humboldt crossing in 1860; that he was coming through on the train and Knausch kept a small store there. Sanders went into the store with some young ladies. The next meeting with Knausch, according to Sanders, was on Humboldt Bay, the year following, two miles from Eureka. Another meeting occurred between them in Shasta county, where Knausch was prospecting and the Professor grub-staking."

Walser concluded by saying that in answer to his question as to whether he knew of any person in these places that knew Knausch, the Professor said he did not.

Court then adjourned till 9.30 a.m. on Monday, when Walser will be recalled to the stand.

THE MACKAY LETTER.

A Correspondent Claims to Have Discovered its Author.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—Your reference to a scurrilous article which appeared in a Scotch journal of recent date is entitled to the hearty commendation of every honest man and woman in California. The article referred to bears certain ear and finger marks which can be traced in the utterances, both in print (under the name of "Free Lance") and upon the Populist rostrum, of one C. J. Mackay, while earning "free grub and free wine" (his own boast) in detailing the ills of popular government as administered by Republican and Democratic statesmen.

Without deigning to notice the denial of "C. J. Stewart Mackay" or anybody else in this controversy, I believe that I am in a position to prove that the C. J. Mackay who wrote the "exaggerated and wilfully distorted details of aggravated truths" concerning California life, manners and people (and who, I have good reason to believe, indiscreetly showed the manuscript to a friend here before mailing the same) is the same C. J. Mackay who writes Populistic effusions over the nom de plume of "Free Lance," and also does work of a similar nature in the lecture field for "free grub and free wine," and also acts as secretary of the Fifth ward Populist club.

Down with such un-American and unmanly hypocrites! They are fit associates of the advocates of anarchy and of everything that is against social purity, and religious and political freedom!

ORGANIZATION OF THE COUNTY COMMITTEE.

Resolutions Bearing Upon the Regulation of Proxies Unanimously Adopted.

The recently-elected Republican county central committee held a meeting yesterday for the purpose of effecting an organization and to transact other important business. The attendance was very good, there being few absentees. The meeting was called to order by Dr. T. M. Hayden, chairman of the former committee.

After some routine preliminaries L. L. Cory made a motion to proceed to the election of a chairman, which was carried. M. L. Schermerhorn nominated Dr. A. G. Deardorff and George H. Monroe seconded the nomination. There was no opposition, and the election of Dr. Deardorff was, on motion of A. P. Darling, made unanimous. The doctor expressed his thanks for the honor in a brief and neat speech.

Boyd Smith of Sanger was chosen secretary pro tem. George H. Monroe was nominated for vice chairman, but declined, nominating A. J. Wiener, who was elected unanimously. The office of treasurer was combined with the vice chairmanship.

For permanent secretary Othello Scribner, E. T. Wolcott, A. H. Nutt, George W. Jones and J. W. Shanklin were nominated. It required three ballots to decide the matter, George W. Jones being chosen. His election was made unanimous.

M. L. Schermerhorn moved that the chair appoint the executive committee, and that the chair be ex-officio chairman of said committee. The motion was carried and the chair appointed A. L. Hobbs, M. L. Schermerhorn, F. Banta, E. W. Smutz, George H. Monroe and A. P. Darling.

It was decided to have the next meeting of the committee on July 21st at 2 p.m. The secretary was instructed to request the nominees of the party to meet with the committee at this meeting.

George H. Monroe, M. L. Schermerhorn and F. Banta were appointed a committee to secure permanent headquarters. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The proxy system has been in the past much abused, and the same should be regulated so that no one person by collecting proxies can cause an unequal and unjust representation; and,

Whereas, Each supervisorial district has a representation in the Republican county central committee of Fresno county of three members, and there are six members of said committee at large; therefore, be it

Resolved, First, That it is the sense of said central committee that in all deliberations thereof, when possible, every member must be present in person; otherwise, each of said supervisorial districts shall be represented by one member therefrom who shall be allowed to cast the two proxies of the other two members from said district; and no member from any supervisorial district shall be allowed to hold or cast the proxy or proxies of any member or members from any different supervisorial district. All proxies shall be in writing.

Second, That members-at-large shall hold and cast no more than two proxies, so that they have no more power than said district members.

Third, That members of the executive committee and other committees shall have the privilege of giving and holding the proxies of each other, in order that important business may not be impeded.

Fourth, That no person not a member of said central committee can vote by proxy or otherwise, or cast a vote on any question.

The matter of getting a new flag and a few minor matters were then discussed, after which the committee adjourned. The meeting was a very harmonious one, and the members of the committee appeared to be very hopeful over the prospects of a victory next fall.

In a case in which a man was accused of forgery a witness for the defense managed to say, "I know that the prisoner cannot write his own name." "All that is excluded," said the judge. "The prisoner is not charged with writing his own name, but that of some one else."

IN A NUTSHELL.

THE BOYCOTT FROM THREE STANDPOINTS.

The Innocent Third Party is Faring the Worst—What Should Be Done.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—Our people are cut off from the rest of the world. We can neither go to San Francisco nor to Los Angeles by rail. We must either travel by mule team, on "shank's mare," or stay at home. The employes of the Southern Pacific Railroad will not allow that company to run Pullman sleeping cars, and the railroad company will not run any train, freight or passenger, unless they can run the Pullman sleepers. Our merchants cannot get up goods from San Francisco, our people cannot go by rail further than Lathrop, and those who have been tempted by cheap excursion rates to visit the Fair, and only provided themselves with money for a short stay in the city, are left stranded, without money to pay hotel bills, or to eat at a restaurant. Nor can they get money from home, for no mails are carried, and their letters stay in the postoffice, into which they were dropped. Of course this causes some little profanity, especially on the part of husbands whose wives have gone on a brief visit to the city, and are left there with no way to get home, unless they walk.

What is the cause of all this? It seems that one Pullman, who builds sleeping-cars near Chicago, some 2500 miles from Fresno, has trouble with his employes, who say that he is oppressing them by cutting down their wages. He says that in the present depressed condition of business he cannot get contracts for building sleeping-cars at prices which make it possible to pay former high wages; but that, rather than discharge his men and leave them with no means of support, he desires to build cars at such prices as he can get, if his men will work for correspondingly reduced wages. They refuse to do this, and say in substance that he shall continue to build cars and to pay them the regular wages that they have been receiving.

They either do not believe his statements or else take the position that they are entitled to and will have their certain rates of wages, whether the business will pay those rates or not. We suppose it to be clear that Mr. Pullman cannot compel his men to work at the wages he fixes, and that, if he will pay no more, they are at perfect liberty to quit work. It seems equally clear that the men cannot compel Mr. Pullman to carry on a losing business, in order that they may get their accustomed wages. As for that matter, they cannot compel him to hire them in any case, whether he would make money by so doing or lose money. And, in the present difference of opinion, there is no tribunal empowered to settle the question, whether he can continue to pay the accustomed wages, and go on giving work to his men, and whether he shall do so. It is for him to say whether he will do this or stop work. It is for the employes to say whether they will work at reduced wages or will quit work.

Just here a new factor appears on the scene. An organization called the "American Railway Union" has been recently and rapidly formed, composed of all classes of men employed on railroads—conductors, engineers, firemen, brakemen, switchmen, etc., etc. This organization is so banded together that its head can call them all off from their work by merely ordering a "strike." When such order comes, wherever the employes of a railroad belong to the organization, everything stops and the railroad becomes a graveyard of business. This "railway union," by what authority does not appear, has assumed to settle this dispute, making itself judge, jury and sheriff. With no "day in court" for Pullman, it adjudges him unheard to be all wrong in the matter, and (something after the fashion of the old inquisition) condemns him to be squeezed until he shall resume payment of the old scale of wages. Whether he will thus lose money every day the carries on business, the "Railway Union" doesn't care a ——.

Under the direction of the head of this new order, the employes of the Southern Pacific Railroad company not merely in the vicinity of the Pullman factory, but here on the Pacific coast, 2500 miles away—assume to prevent the railroad company from handling any Pullman cars in its trains!

In return the railroad company refuse to run any trains, even freight or local passenger trains, unless they shall be allowed to run the Pullman sleepers, of which they say they own seventy-five per cent. So here we, the people, are "between the devil and the deep sea." Our fruit, upon which we depend largely for our living and the support of our families, rots on the trees, instead of being sent to market by railroad cars. For want of means to carry beeves, sheep and hogs to the cities, the people of the cities are likely to have to go without meat. We, in the interior, are likely soon to come to the end of our supply of sugar, tea, coffee and other groceries, and then how long shall we have to live without them? Our citizens are stranded away from home, and people from abroad are stranded here.

The members of the Railway Union seem to think they have made their position impregnable, and have shown themselves all right when they say that they were obliged to "take up the gage of battle" which the railroads flung down to them. This is all very pretty and high-flown, but people without sugar, or coffee, or tea, or meat; husbands whose wives are separated from them; wives who cannot get home; travelers from the East who are stranded in little wayside towns—in short, the whole people will be very apt to think, if they don't say it, "Gogo of battle be d—d."

Railroad employes have enough to do to mind their own business and support their own families without taking up a quarrel between people 2500 miles away, of the merits of which they know nothing, except that President Debs (who in thunder is Debs?) has ordered them to quit work, lose their places and take the chances of starvation for themselves and families.

Nor do the railroad managers seem without fault in the matter. We do not know their reasons for stopping all traffic, because their men will not let them run the Pullman sleepers, but, with our present light, we cannot help thinking that they might run their freight trains and [illegible] and thus save our people [illegible] fort, expense and troubl[illegible] prove [illegible] is [illegible] on [illegible]

The Soldier Was a Diplomatist.

A good story of the Duke of Wellington is told. After one of the battles in Spain he invited a young officer, who had exhibited conspicuous bravery, to dine with him in his tent. Riding by some short while afterward, the duke overheard the young man exultantly proclaim, "I am going to dine with Wellington tonight."

"You might vouchsafe me the prefix of 'Mr.' at least, Captain ——," remarked the duke dryly.

"Not at all, my lord," retorted the unabashed youth. "I should not speak of Mr. Cæsar or Mr. Alexander, so why should I talk of Mr. Wellington?"—Sheffield Telegraph.

"I am [illegible] ng a separate [illegible] school building. [illegible] gh room on the site o[illegible] ool for both structures [illegible] have a large number o[illegible] space at the command [illegible] ecidedly limited if th[illegible] put in the same bloc[illegible]

"To mo[illegible] building to the n[illegible] lot, as has been [illegible] the repairs th[illegible] made in conseque[illegible] cost about $3000. [illegible] enditure of only a $[illegible] get threefourths [illegible] which is an excellent [illegible] hole block has been [illegible] I believe we can [illegible] four southernmost lots [illegible] all the improvements, [illegible] To separate it from the impro[illegible] rtion we could run a 30-fo[illegible] alley [illegible] O to P street, and there could still be plenty of room.

"This is the best offer we have had so far, and in my opinion now is the time for the city to acquire realty, as it is hardly likely values will again reach such a low figure. Besides, to build the high school on the Central school lot would increase the fire risk on the block and result in a higher rate. We have sufficient money to buy a block for the high school, and this being the case, together with the necessity for plenty of room for the pupils and the other reasons mentioned, I am of the opinion the land ought to be bought."

School Trustee S. F. Hadsell is of Mr. Church's opinion, and County Superintendent of Schools [illegible] also believes the high school [illegible] be built on a separate piece [illegible] Mr. Kirk said the trouble wi[illegible] San Francisco schools was [illegible] sufficient grounds. He [illegible] ving pupils plenty of elb[illegible] as also his opinion tha[illegible] construction of the [illegible] interfere with the st[illegible] lars in the Central s[illegible] built on the same bloc[illegible]

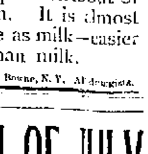

Truste[illegible] is in favor of erecti[illegible] building on the sa[illegible] stands the Centr[illegible] ere is not enou[illegible] disposal to perh[illegible] purchase of a[illegible] wever, he wou[illegible] the portion of [illegible] ened if it co[illegible] though it wou[illegible] ols' facing on [illegible] stated, hu[illegible] him, has [illegible] less than $6000.

Mr. [illegible] thinks Mr. Church overesti[illegible] cost of moving and repairing the Central school, which, according to estimates submitted to him by a builder, will not exceed $2000 or $2200 The difference between this amount and $6000, the price of the tract offered for the high school building, is worth considering. The whole building cost less than the board supposed it would, and Mr. Cummings thought it would be a good idea to use what surplus there might be for the purpose of supplying the present schools with good heaters.

School Trustee W. W. Eden opposes the purchase of land for a high school site on economical grounds. Besides, he does not like the portion of the Terry block it has been suggested to buy. He would prefer to have that part on which the improvements are and that would come too high.
